Noticias de Ciencias de Sra. Kasem

Jennifer.kasem@sweetwaterschools.org (619) 591-4000 www.elm.sweetwaterschools.org

En www.jupitered.com

Las calificaciones en el Internet

Anuncios Importantes

Las fechas de los exámenes y las pruebas

Mándeme un correo electrónico

Reglas del salón

Quédate en tu asiento

Seguir las direcciones

Usa la regla de oro

Qué hay en Kasemscience

www.kasemscience.weebly.com

- La agenda del día con los archivos vinculados y las fechas de entrega
- Tabla de contenido del cuaderno con los archivos vinculados si corresponde
- Tiempos de tutoría
- Direcciones para retomar un examen

¡Bienvenidos!

El último semestre estudiamos a la Tierra en movimiento. Este semestre veremos los cambios de la tierra.

El segundo semestre vamos a estudiar el tiempo geológico, la selección natural, el impacto humano en la Tierra, así como las señales y las ondas.

–Sra. Kasem

Calificaciones

Académicas

Evaluaciones	60%
Trabajos Completos	40%

Conducta

Un estudiante excelente: (Calificación A)

- tiene una actitud positiva
- viene siempre preparado a clase
- participa en la clase en una manera positiva
- llega tarde menos de dos veces
- sigue las reglas del salón y de la escuela

Sobre los grados

Evaluaciones 60%

- Uno sobre cada 2 semanas
- Las evaluaciones pueden incluir: proyectos, pruebas/exámenes de opción múltiple y pruebas de ensayo
- Las pruebas y exámenes pueden ser hechos de nuevo por el dominio del tema (excepto la final) hasta el final del semestre. Direcciones para retomar estarán en Jupiter.

Trabajo de clase y Tareas 40%

- 2-3 a la semana en Jupiter
- Asignaciones (pdfs) y / o direcciones estarán conectados directamente en Jupiter
- La tarea se debe al inicio del período. Todas las asignaciones no entregadas en ese momento serán considerados tarde.
- La tarea se debe a la siguiente clase. Asegúrese de verificar las fechas de entregar publicadas en Júpiter.

Entender a Júpiter

- Not graded yet: la asignación sí está entregado
- Falta/Missing: Necesita entregarlo, no he recibido la asignación y ahora es tarde. Cuando está entregado cambia a Not graded yet
- L: tarde (penal de 10%) Si el trabajo se envía tarde, se calificará tarde, así que asegúrese de entregarlo a tiempo.

* Se aceptarán trabajos atrasados hasta la semana previa al informe de progreso y luego se cerrará la tarea.

Sweetwater Union High School District no discrimina en cuanto a sexo, raza, religión, color, origen nacional, ascendencia, etnia, estado civil, edad, discapacidad física o mental, orientación sexual, o cualquier otra consideración ilegal. Política #2224 del Consejo de SUHSD

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or services, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or to include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or services, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or to include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Special Interest Story Headline

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

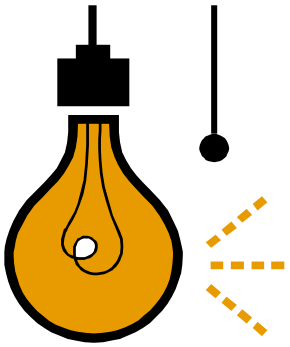
First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your service.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. You should publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.

Your headlines are an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

In a few words, the headline should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story.



Inside Story Headline

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

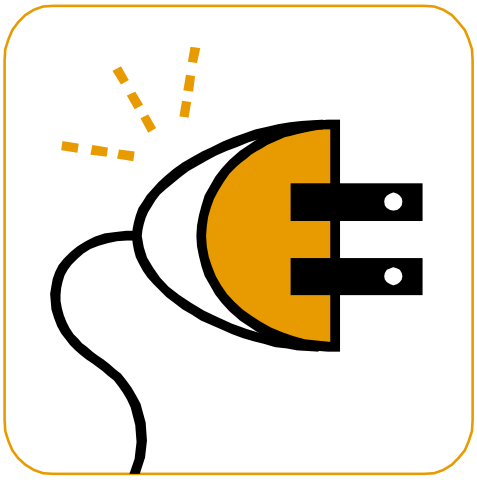
The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content.



Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your services.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Inside Story Headline

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. You should publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.

Your headlines are an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

In a few words, a headline should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused.

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your services.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your services.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. You should publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.

Your headlines are an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics, but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your services.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Inside Story Headline

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or vendors needs.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Inside Story Headline

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Word offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or vendors needs.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

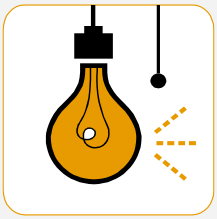
Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or in requesting your services.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. You should publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.



"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

In a few words, a headline should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused.

Examples of possible headlines include Product Wins Industry Award, New Product Can Save You Time, Membership Drive Exceeds Goals, and New Office Opens Near You.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases and market studies.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or services, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your reader.

Inside Story Headline

The purpose of a newsletter is to provide specialized information to a targeted audience. Newsletters can be a great way to market your product or service, and also to create credibility and build your organization's identity among peers, members, employees, or vendors.

First, determine the audience of the newsletter. This could be anyone who might benefit from the information it contains, for example, employees or people interested in purchasing a product or requesting your service.

You can compile a mailing list from business reply cards, customer information sheets, business cards collected at trade shows, or membership lists. You might consider purchasing a mailing list from a company.

Next, establish how much time and money you can spend on your newsletter. These factors will help determine how frequently you publish your newsletter and its length. You should publish your newsletter at least quarterly so that it's considered a consistent source of information. Your customers or employees will look forward to its arrival.

Company Name
Street Address
Address 2
City, ST ZIP Code

Phone
(503) 555-0125

Fax
(503) 555-0127

E-mail
someone@example.com

Your Tagline here.

Back Page Story Headline

In a few words, it should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused.

Examples of possible headlines include Product Wins Industry Award, New Product Can Save You Time, Membership Drive Exceeds Goals, and New Office Opens Near You.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases and market studies.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

About Our Organization

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose, and you can import them into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption for the image near the image, too.

COMPANY NAME
STREET ADDRESS
ADDRESS 2
CITY, ST ZIP CODE

CUSTOMER NAME
STREET ADDRESS
ADDRESS 2
CITY, ST ZIP CODE

We're on the Web!
See us at:
www.contoso.com